CONFERENCE VENUE

International Convention Center Jeju (ICC JEJU, http://www.iccjeju.co.kr), the conference venue, is located at the south end of Jeju island, a world-acclaimed resort renowned for recreation and tourism. Jeju is proud of its unique cultural folk heritage as well as its geographical and historical relevance. The island itself is an extinct volcano with its peak jutting skyward at the center and a broad, gentle littoral all the way around, a very unique geographical condition. In June 2007, the volcanic island and lava tube cave systems were designated as UNESCO World Natural Heritage Sites for their natural beauty and geographical value. Jeju is now the place with designations of UNESCO's Triple Crowns - Biosphere Reserve in 2002, World Natural Heritage in 2007, and World Geo-parks in 2010.

INVITATION

I am pleased to invite you to the 19th International Corrosion Congress (ICC) organized and hosted by the Corrosion Science Society of Korea (CSSK) on behalf of the International Corrosion Council.

The conference will offer exciting opportunities for sharing and exploring new ideas, research and issues on the science and technology of corrosion and corrosion protection. The technical program will include plenary and keynote lectures, oral presentations and poster presentations organized by distinguished experts.

A large exhibition will also be organized in parallel with the technical program and will feature the latest in corrosion control products and services. Added to the conference program are plenty of social opportunities, a welcome reception, a banquet, a farewell function, tours and sports programs will be offered for all attendees and their spouses.

CSSK will do its best to make the 19th ICC congress one of the best conferences you have ever attended, and I hope this event enables you to contribute much more than any other to the reduction of corrosion costs which currently range from 2 to 5 percent of GDP in most industrialized nations. On behalf of CSSK and the organizing committee of the 19th ICC, I would like to thank you in advance for your active participation in the congress.

I am looking forward to seeing you on the beautiful island of Jeju, Korea!

Sincerely Yours,

Jong Jip Kim
Chairman of the Organizing committee of the 19th ICC and President of the CSSK
